

WHAT'S UP WITH WHELAN

I was in the kennel for a week and unfortunately I came home and this little yellow creature was here. He's kind of relentless that little yellow thing!

Unfortunately, they told me Zeus is staying, so I guess we'll have to get along 😏

TEACHING SOME PATIENCE TO THE LITTLE ONE!

- I'm such a good role model for Zeus – he's going to miss me when I go away to college in February

Dad was grilling some steaks for a little pre-holiday. He had a very attentive audience at the door

OUT AND ABOUT

- Went to a pumpkin patch and really wanted to meet those little ponies. Dad thought it might frighten them. How could I frighten anyone???
- Dad was going duck hunting in Arkansas, so I had to help him shop at Bass Pro shops.

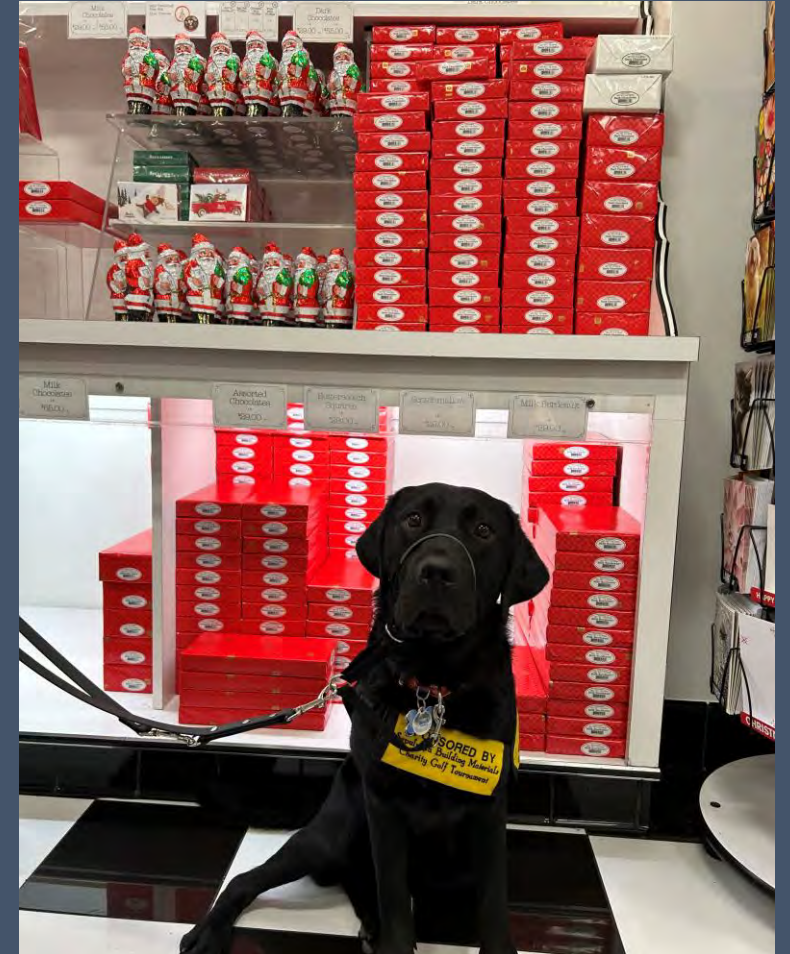

HO HO HO!

- Santa loved me! I told him I wanted entire case of filets from Omaha Steak. I think one a week is reasonable. Apparently, dad said I'm dreaming.

CHRISTMAS TIME!

- Went shopping with dad and was a very good boy!

TIME TO SAY GOODBYE

- Well, it is time for me to say goodbye for now. I have a grownup boy and in addition to my many qualities, I have taught the newest addition to the family how to be a good puppy in training!
- I received my acceptance letter to college and will begin in February. I have not decided on my major (service dog or guide dog) but I will let you know. Whichever path I choose, I promise to do my very best.
